

Help bring Torah learning to life – Be a part of Denver Jewish Day School's Illustrated Torah Campaign

Current Denver JDS students with the Illustrated Torah.

What is the Illustrated Torah?

The Illustrated Torah gives color and brilliance to each weekly portion – Parsha – of the Torah. Every panel of these stunning works of art will bring the joys of the Torah and Haftarat to people of all ages. The illustrations are beautiful, whimsical and a valuable educational tool. The Illustrated Torah is crafted by Israeli artist Michal Meron and was presented to Denver Jewish Day School (Denver JDS) by Rocky Mountain Kol Nashim (All Women's Voices) as a legacy gift.

How does Denver JDS use the Illustrated Torah?

Once a week, our fifth graders advance the scroll to the next Parsha during Shacharit services. Other Jewish organizations also may use the Illustrated Torah when they meet at Denver JDS.

Where is the Illustrated Torah?

The Illustrated Torah is housed in a Lucite case in the Lower Division building, just outside of the Merga Family Chapel on the second floor.

Torah learning in living color!

In addition to being a unique teaching tool, the Illustrated Torah helps support Denver JDS financially. Sponsorships for each Parsha are available.

You may wish to purchase a Parsha in honor of a Bar/Bat Mitzvah, a special anniversary, in memory of a loved one, or simply because the Parsha has special significance to your family.

Parsha Sponsorship Levels:

- Complete Sponsorship of one Parsha: $1800
- Partial Sponsorship of one Parsha: $600 (four spots available per Parsha)

Parsha donor recognition will be displayed on the wall next to the Torah.
